Sponsorship and Trade Exhibition Opportunities
The Conference
The Asia-Pacific Conference on Combustion (ASPACC) was initiated in 1996 with the aim of advancing combustion science and technology and promoting global and regional scientific partnerships that will accelerate the advent of clean, efficient and versatile combustion technologies. The first ASPACC conference was held in Osaka, Japan in 1997, followed by Tainan, Taiwan (1999), Seoul, Korea (2001), Nanjing, China (2003), Adelaide, Australia (2005), Nagoya, Japan (2007), Taipei, Taiwan (2009), Hyderabad, India (2010), Gyeongju, Korea (2013), and Beijing, China (2015).

The 11th ASPACC will be hosted at the University of Sydney by the Australia and New Zealand Section of the Combustion Institute (ANZCI) and is scheduled for December 10-14, 2017. It will be held in conjunction with the 2017 Australian Combustion Symposium and the Eighth Australian Conference on Laser Diagnostics in Fluid Mechanics and Combustion. This combined conference promises an excellent technical program that will bring together leading scientists and engineers to report progress on state-of-the-art topics of interest in combustion science, laser diagnostics and power conversion technologies.
